Headmaster's Address

The Educational System has been under a lot of ridicule of late. We all know the importance of education in the classroom – however, it does not begin nor does it end there. Life, in itself, is a continual learning experience.

At Robert Land Academy, we look not only at educating the mind but the whole boy through demonstrating and living day to day the values of LOYALTY, LABOUR, COURAGE, COMMITMENT AND HONOUR. To Cadets, past and present, it is my hope that these values, learned and lived, will help you to meet future opportunities and difficulties courageously and with success.

This past year was a very exciting one. With the tremendous help and devotion of Lt. Swettenham, we targeted many new (and old) marketing avenues, i.e. coffee evenings, Expo '92, past and present parent receptions in Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto, Scarlet Parade '92, etc. I truly thank those of you who so graciously offered your assistance, time and support in making these a success.

My sincere thanks to Cadets and their families, Board Members, faculty and friends for your contribution in kind and spirit this past year. Each and every one of you have contributed in your own way to the success of Robert Land Academy and, with all sincerity, I thank you.

We look forward to working with those of you who are returning and to a year ahead filled with opportunity. To those of you who are graduating, I wish you all the very best and continued success in your endeavours.

Head Boy Address

Yet another year has come to a successful end, both in the academics and barracks life here at Robert Land Academy. With the several challenges and obstacles that we had to face this year, I think as a team, we conquered them with the pride and the values that were instilled within us.

These values being: Honour, Loyalty, Labour, Courage and Commitment are the basis of our day to day learnings which enables us to deal with our endeavours with a sense of achievement.

I would like to recapture some of the main events that occurred this year. We started off with our yearly Fall Exercise, where all the cadets demonstrated such great spirit, co-operation and self-discipline to complete their individual and team goals. Then the Academy prepared for Winter Carnival Day which was fun for both the cadets and parents who attended. From there on the cadets and staff concentrated all their efforts towards the 1992 Scarlet Parade and the Annual May Inspection which were both very successful and beneficial to everyone. Then the aim was to conclude the year the same way we started, with a lot of enthusiasm. For which we did!

On a more personal level, I would like to thank Major Bowman and Captain Hayter for their trust and support, as well as CSM McAndrews for his father-like figure during the course of the year. Academically, I would like to thank Captain Vermont for his guidance and encouragement when I wanted to quit. I cannot forget Sergeant Halliday, Master Corporal Lilly, Corporal O'Sullivan, SCM Zahra and CSM Weeks who all took the time to help me get up when I was down. To all of you, good luck and thank you!

I would also like to wish the rest of the cadets and staff who are returning the best of luck on their goals and stay focussed! For those who chose to carry on to bigger and greater things, good luck and may you all take the values with you.

To Robert Land Academy, thank you for the great year and my future!

Editor's Address

I take pride in presenting your 1991-92 Robert Land Academy Yearbook.

Every individual at the Academy share in this pride, as this book is a record of your achievements and activities during the school year. It is my hope that this book will recall many memories that pertain to academic endeavors, participation in athletics, involvement in various clubs, and most importantly, the friendships that developed at Robert Land Academy.

I would like to thank Mr. Erola's Photography students for this year's photographs; Mr. Kelly for his cover design; and most importantly, you – the student body – for making this year a truly memorable one.

Good luck to all of you in the coming year.

2Lt. Alagna
